TO: All UBC Medical Students
RE: Dermatology Medical Students Assignment

Instructions to Students

1. You may take the assignment anytime during the week you are assigned to dermatology until the Sunday night after your week of dermatology rotation is completed. The assignment is open book and divided into 10 modules of 5 questions, each for a total of 50 questions. Questions are distributed randomly into modules.

You have up to 90 minutes to complete each module. The modules do NOT have to be taken in order, NOR do they all have to be completed at once. HOWEVER, once you start a module, you must complete it. It is important to (click) "submit" your assignment for grading. If not, the scores will not be properly recorded.

2. Suggestions for where you can take the assignment: any computer that is connected to the Internet. These may be found at: Teaching hospitals and UBC affiliated libraries. There is also a computer available to use in the library at the Skin Care Centre, but this computer is not always available.
3. Please access the assignment on the third year MEDICOL site under Dermatology.
